January 11, 2018

School tomorrow! School tomorrow! No school Monday! While most Salem Public Schools have no school tomorrow, Friday, January 12, CARLTON DOES HAVE SCHOOL! We do not have school Monday, which is a holiday.

Once again, it's Snowball Season! Read below for reminders about our annual reading marathon. Good luck!

The Snowball Slam is Back!

It's that time of year again! The annual Snowball Slam kicked off this week and is in full swing! Remember books read at home, both to and by your child, count toward their reading. Record those books! We also have some fun events planned. An author is visiting tomorrow and we can't wait! We also have mystery readers visiting from the community. The high school basketball team is coming to read and shoot hoops with us and of course ... the annual Vocabulary Parade!

Happy Reading!! Mrs. Erps, Mrs. Lowd, and Ms. Meshulam

School Tomorrow! No School Monday! January 15 is MLK Day – no school. Some Salem schools have tomorrow (Friday, January 12) off, but Carlton DOES have school tomorrow.

Movie Night — Boss Baby: Thursday, January 18. Students voted for their choice of movie, and the winner was "Boss Baby." The movie will start at 6 in the cafeteria. Bring blankets or sleeping bags to spread out and get comfy. Should be a fun night for all! For more details, refer to notice that went home this week.

Winter Concert: We invite everyone to join our P1 and P2 students for their Winter Concert on Thursday, February 8. They will perform for the E1 and E2 students at 9 that morning, and again for YOU at 6:30 that evening. Any caregivers who cannot attend at 6:30 are welcome to attend in the morning. Snow date is the following Thursday, February 15.
